

Special Announcement

WE are now receiving the Stylish and Up-To-Date Goods recently purchased in London, Paris and New York by our Mr. Brasch. The assortment is altogether too large to allow of us displaying anything like the entire purchases at one time. We have therefore decided to make SPECIAL DISPLAYS from time to time---probably two each week. The first will take place on Monday Next, the 9th inst., when we will have the pleasure of showing an array of NOVELTY WASH SUITS, with Bolero, Pony Jackets and Baby Irish Coats to match the skirts. Also, EMBROIDERED PRINCESS GOWNS, in various light shades. We have adhered to our former methods, and will have no duplicates. Thus each garment will be exclusive.

KINDLY WATCH FOR FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS

SOCIAL NOTES

London at "The Doctorage."

The visitation of Mr. and Mrs. Jack London in Kona gave the people of Kailua and vicinity an opportunity to meet them under the most pleasant conditions. The Londons were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Goodhue at "The Doctorage" while in the district and on Wednesday evening, August 28, Jack London gave a reading from his works at the Goodhue home.

The souvenir program with Mr. London's signature was devised by Dr. Goodhue and each guest was given a copy. Mr. London read from "The Death of Likoun," "Li Wan the Fair" and "Nam-Bok the Unveracious," all from "Children of the Frost."

Dr. Goodhue, who has long been a correspondent friend of Mr. London, introduced him by saying that he took great pride in having been an original discoverer of Mr. London. Long before the author was generally known Dr. Goodhue had read some of his stories now gathered into a volume, "The Son of a Sea Wolf," and remarked to a companion "There is a man who will make his mark." He then wrote to London expressing his appreciation and saying that he would be numbered in the Doctor's "family compact."

London's letter in response contained this:

"It was once my luck to sail along in sight of your beaches, but it was ordained not to be my luck to land. It was a sealing schooner taking the southern passage for Japan, and, our advance money spent in 'Frisco, fore and aft we could not raise sufficient cash to merit sending a boat ashore after fruit. So I saw your blessed land only in the distance.—Some day—ah, some day."

Dr. Goodhue said that we might not all accept all London says on socialism but it might be due to our own limitations and want of knowledge on this special line. But as men of humanity we can stand by him in his crusade against child slavery, military murder (war) and judicial murder (hanging) and against the great wrong of having so many innocent people suffer from actual want when millions are wasted by the rich.

Mr. London responded in a few well chosen words and went on with his reading.

It was a delightful evening with delightful people. The guests present were: Judge and Mrs. J. A. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Maguire, Mr.

and Mrs. G. F. Maydwell, Mr. and Mrs. W. McQuaid, Mr. Driver Sr., Mr. Driver Jr., Mrs. J. P. Curtis, Miss Paul, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Aungst, Miss Pedro, Miss Sanders, Mr. A. L. Greenwell, Miss Greenwell, Miss Amy Greenwell, Mr. Frank Greenwell, Mr. Macfarlane, Rev. D. Douglas Wallace and wife, Lady Herron, Mrs. W. L. Stanley, Mrs. Lange, Miss Danforth, Miss Wallace, Miss D. Wallace, Miss Ackerman, Miss Lily Ackerman, Miss Betsy Ackerman, Miss Magoon, Mr. Magoon, Mr. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bruner, Mr. and Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Linders, Mr. Usborn, Mr. R. M. Overend, Mr. Grelling, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. White, Miss B. Meyers, Mrs. Thompson, Mr. E. E. Conant, Mr. and Mrs. Jack London, Miss G. L. Lynch, Miss Mae Paris.

The following poem by Dr. Goodhue was read by Miss Magoon:

THE HAPA-HAOLE.

You hear her laughter, rippling, clear,
You see her smiles and glances too—
And though a stranger, do not fear
But she will give the same to you!

Her favors like the sunshine free,
She knows no color, sect, or race;
She reigns supreme in Hawaii
The loveliest product of the place.

She waits with leis in her hand;
With leis round her neck and hair;
Type surely of this happy land—
Light-hearted, loving, debonaire.

If you but grant it, she will place
Around your neck a fragrant strand;
A wreath of maille—with such grace—
None but a statue could withstand.

All honor to her olive skin,
Her full-orbed eyes, her kindly face;
Sooner or later she will win
The Mahalo to her place.

In Honor of Admiral.

Mr. Hertsche was the host of an elaborate dinner on Tuesday evening at the Young hotel in honor of Admiral Dayton, Admiral Very, Captain Aaron Ward, Captain Staunton, Captain Thomas, Captain Miller and Mr. A. A. Young. The table decorations were in red and the dinner a work of art. On Wednesday Mr. Hertsche entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cause Deering, Miss Spicer, Mr. Merriek, a noted lawyer of Chicago, who has been the guest of the Deering family for the past week, and Dr. Fitzgerald. The roses which adorned the table were of the choicest variety, and the dinner, a choice sample of the skill of Chef Chevalier.

Dowsett Dance.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. J. M. Dowsett gave a dance for her son Herbert at her Punahou residence. Those present were: Misses Lorna Lauka, Nora Sturgeon, Beatrice Castle, Alice Cooke, Elsa Schaefer, Ella Wight, Lily Paty, Edna Gunn, Damon Wilcox, Irene Fisher, Violet Damon, Justine McClanahan, Messrs. Weller, Southack, Galt, W. F. Dillingham, S. Lowrey, F. Lowrey, A. Lowrey, G. Schaefer, F. Armstrong, G. Macfarlane, F. Wichman, G. Renton, G. Fuller, G. Brown, G. Whitney, W. Wight, D. Kennedy.

Seaside Hop.

The gay hop which occurred at the Seaside on Thursday was attended by hundreds and the dancing floor was comfortably filled throughout the evening. The officers of the Fleet were most prominent and society turned out in great numbers. Mr. Kaul's orchestra was at its best and a feature of the latter part of the evening was the clever violin playing of Nicholas Longworth, who took the violin from one of the musicians and played with the orchestra to the manner born. This was greeted with a burst of applause and Mr. Longworth responded by doing some artistic and difficult violin feats. It was a late hour before the dance was over and it will be long remembered by all present. Mrs. Longworth, who came in during the latter part of the evening, looked very handsome in a French creation of black lace. In her ears she wore the famous long cardrops of diamonds, and they suited her perfectly. A necklace, consisting of a single string of large diamonds, was about her throat. Mrs. Harry Macfarlane was also especially noticed at the dance, and she was looking very pretty and busily greeting all her acquaintances. There is to be another hop at the Seaside tonight which will, of course, be well attended.

Korea's Departure.

The sailing of the Korea yesterday, brought back old times to many, but it is seldom that so distinguished a passenger list could be found. Mr. and Mrs. Longworth received perfect ovations all along the road and covered with leis, surrounded by friends, they stood near the door of the dock receiving everybody. Their genial manner is charming and when "Alice smiles" as the saying goes, you are ready to do anything she asks. There is a fascination and magnetism about this girl which takes everybody who knows her by storm. The Princess Kawananakoa, looking very handsome, accompanied by her two sister, the Misses Muriel and Beatrice Campbell, attracted much attention. The Princess is taking letters to the most exclusive families of New York and Newport. It is only Prince David's due that his wife should receive distinguished attention, for Alahau in the old days was a sort of camping ground for all distinguished Americans and foreigners. Among the other passengers were Mr. and Mrs. McClanahan and Miss Justine McClanahan, who are going to San Francisco to live, much to the regret of all their friends. Mrs. McClanahan, a pretty woman, looked particularly stunning in a hat with a bright green feather, and her charming daughter was almost dissolved in tears at the thought of forever leaving the land where she has been so happy. Judge and Mrs. Hatch, Miss Harriet Hatch and Gilchrist were also off for Washington, the two children to return to school. Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis were off for the Coast, and among others were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Galt and Mrs. A. E. Galt, Percival Galt, Messrs. Southack and Weller, who have been spending some weeks here, Mrs. Francis Swamy, and daughter, her mother, Mrs. Emily Judd, Guy Macfarlane, George Renton, Jr., Edna Gunn, Mr. Bollers two nieces, George Brown, Alexander Young, Jr., Mr. C. C. von Hamm, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Barneson, Miss Barneson, Frederic Wichman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Gignoux and a host of others. As the ship sailed away leis and flowers began to shower the dock, and the Royal Hawaiian band, which had been playing very busily, burst into renewed vigor. The Stars and Stripes were hoisted to the fore in honor of the President's daughter and the last good byes were lustily shouted and responded to.

surpassed. Wild monkeys chattered from branch to branch and the vista before one's eyes was soul-lifting. Mrs. Scott is never happy unless taking out-door exercise, and she hopes to again hunt the big game. Carl Hedemann, who was in Formosa, is again ill in a hospital in Yokohama, but hopes soon to return to Honolulu.

Doles Entertain.

Judge and Mrs. Doles entertained at breakfast on Sunday morning for Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., at their bungalow at Aqua Marine, Diamond Head.

Officers Entertain.

The Junior officers' mess of the West Virginia gave a stag dinner to the junior officers' mess of the Pennsylvania, the only outsider being Lieut. McClary of Fort Shafter.

Mrs. Walter Hoffman entertained Mr. Percival Galt and his friends, Messrs. Southack and Weller, with a riding party beyond Diamond Head. Those invited besides the guests of honor were Misses Elsa and Linda Schaefer, Alice Cooke, Barneson, Justine McClanahan.

The West Virginia and the Pennsylvania have given several informal luncheons in honor of Paymaster and Mrs. Brooke. Mrs. Brooke is always a belle in the naval set and a great acquisition socially to Honolulu.

Miss Kathleen Cartwright was married to Mr. Ferguson Allan of the Isle of Wight on Thursday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Allan will proceed directly to Mexico.

Rear Admiral J. H. Dayton, Rear Admiral Samuel W. Very, Captain J. E. Milton, Captain Chauncey Thomas, Captain S. A. Staunton and Captain Aaron Ward were guests at the Commercial Club during the week.

Captain McGoldrick, Captain Miller and Dr. McCallum were entertained at the Commercial Club by B. G. Riggs on Thursday.

Captain Soule and W. R. Farrington gave Captain Goodfellow Drew, commander of the Rihet, a State of Maine luncheon of broiled live lobster, hard tack and pie at the Commercial Club Friday noon.

W. G. Scott of Pala, Maui, and H. K. Stender of Kailua were the guests of R. L. Auerbach at the Commercial Club luncheon on Friday.

On Wednesday Miss Cordelia Giffman was the delightful hostess of a luncheon at Waikiki for Miss Nora Swinzy.

Secretary and Mrs. Mott-Smith have had a very pleasant summer at Waiala. They returned to town on September first.

Miss Spalding gave a charming little tea for Miss Scott of Hilo on Thursday.

It is pleasant to greet Miss Agnes Smith again. She has recently returned from school in New York.

Mrs. James Castle will return to "The Dunes" next week for a month.
